

The Storm

One day there was a big storm.

When the storm was over, the farmer went out to the porch and looked around in alarm.

A big sharp branch had been torn off the tree.

There were many acorns all over the yard.

“Oh no!” said the farmer.

“This is a big mess!”

He ran to his garden.

He saw the corn.

“Oh no,” he said.

“Now my corn is short!

That storm did a lot of harm!”
