

In the Ground

“I can hear a funny sound!” said Josh.

“Is it Chip crying?”

“No,” said Deb.

She knew it was not Josh’s dog, Chip.

She looked around at the ground.

“The sound is in the ground,” she said.

She walked until she came to a hole in the ground.

The sound was getting louder and louder.

She put her finger in a hole in the ground.

“Ouch! Come here, Josh!” shouted Deb.

“There is something in the ground.”

Deb and Josh looked in the hole.

“It is a little kitten. It is stuck in the hole!” said Josh.

“We found a little kitten!

Let’s pull it out!”

They pulled out the kitten from the hole.

“Oh, you poor thing,” said Deb.

“I will take you home
and get you some milk!”
