

Braided Hair

Lain and Caileen were walking down Main Street when it began to rain.

They ran across the street and into the hair salon. “Can we wait in here until it stops raining?” they asked.

“Yes,” said the woman.

“I am training my new hairdresser in how to braid hair. We can braid your hair while you wait.”

“Great!” said the girls.

The hairdressers braided Lain’s and Caileen’s hair.

“I am glad it rained!” said Lain.

“Me too!” said Caileen.
